Please Join the MBTA Team for the
B Branch Track Upgrades Open House

Wednesday, June 28, 2023, at 6:00 PM

The MBTA's Capital Program team is hosting an open house to discuss the scheduled track work for the B Branch at Boston University's Sleeper Auditorium located at 871 Commonwealth Avenue Boston, MA on Wednesday, June 28 from 6:00-8:00 PM. Join us at an interactive, open house format to learn about the latest news and details about the upcoming work.

Work Includes:

- Full-depth track replacement at Packard's Corner and Harvard Ave to Allston St
- Ductbank replacement
- Bike lane, pedestrian crossing, and platform edge painting

B Branch Closure Dates: Monday July 17- Friday July 28

The open house will begin at 6:00 PM - this is a good opportunity to learn more about this work and meet the team. We welcome your input and will be happy to answer any questions you may have. All attendees who sign-in to the meeting and provide an email address will be entered into the project's email database to receive email updates.

Meeting details will be posted on the project website under 'Upcoming Events' ahead of the meeting: mbta.com/GLTrack

You can also email questions anytime to GLT@MBTA.com.

Accommodations

This public meeting is accessible to people with disabilities and those with limited proficiency in English. Accessibility accommodations and language services will be provided free of charge, upon request, as available. Such services include documents in alternate formats, translated documents, and interpretation. For more information or to request a reasonable accommodation and/or language services, please email GLT@mbta.com. Due to our accelerated timeline, we will do our best to accommodate requests made at least a day before the open house.
